Weather Permitting

N-85 (84th Street) & Ralston Avenue

Due to a documented crash pattern on the State Highway System at Ralston Avenue, the Nebraska Department of Roads is modifying this intersection to improve safety, improve the operations of the highway system, and reduce delay for traffic trying to access southbound N-85 (84th Street).

In order to accomplish this, the Ralston Avenue intersection is permanently being modified to a northbound right-in, right-out access and southbound left-in access. Vehicles along Ralston Avenue wishing to continue on southbound N-85 (84th Street) will now need to access Harrison Street and continue south at the N-85 (84th Street) intersection.

This modification is being accomplished by installation of a curb in the median on N-85 (84th Street) at the intersection. In the interim, tubular post and curbs will be placed until permanent construction of the curbs can be constructed. Signing will also be placed at the intersection to alert the drivers of the restricted movements.

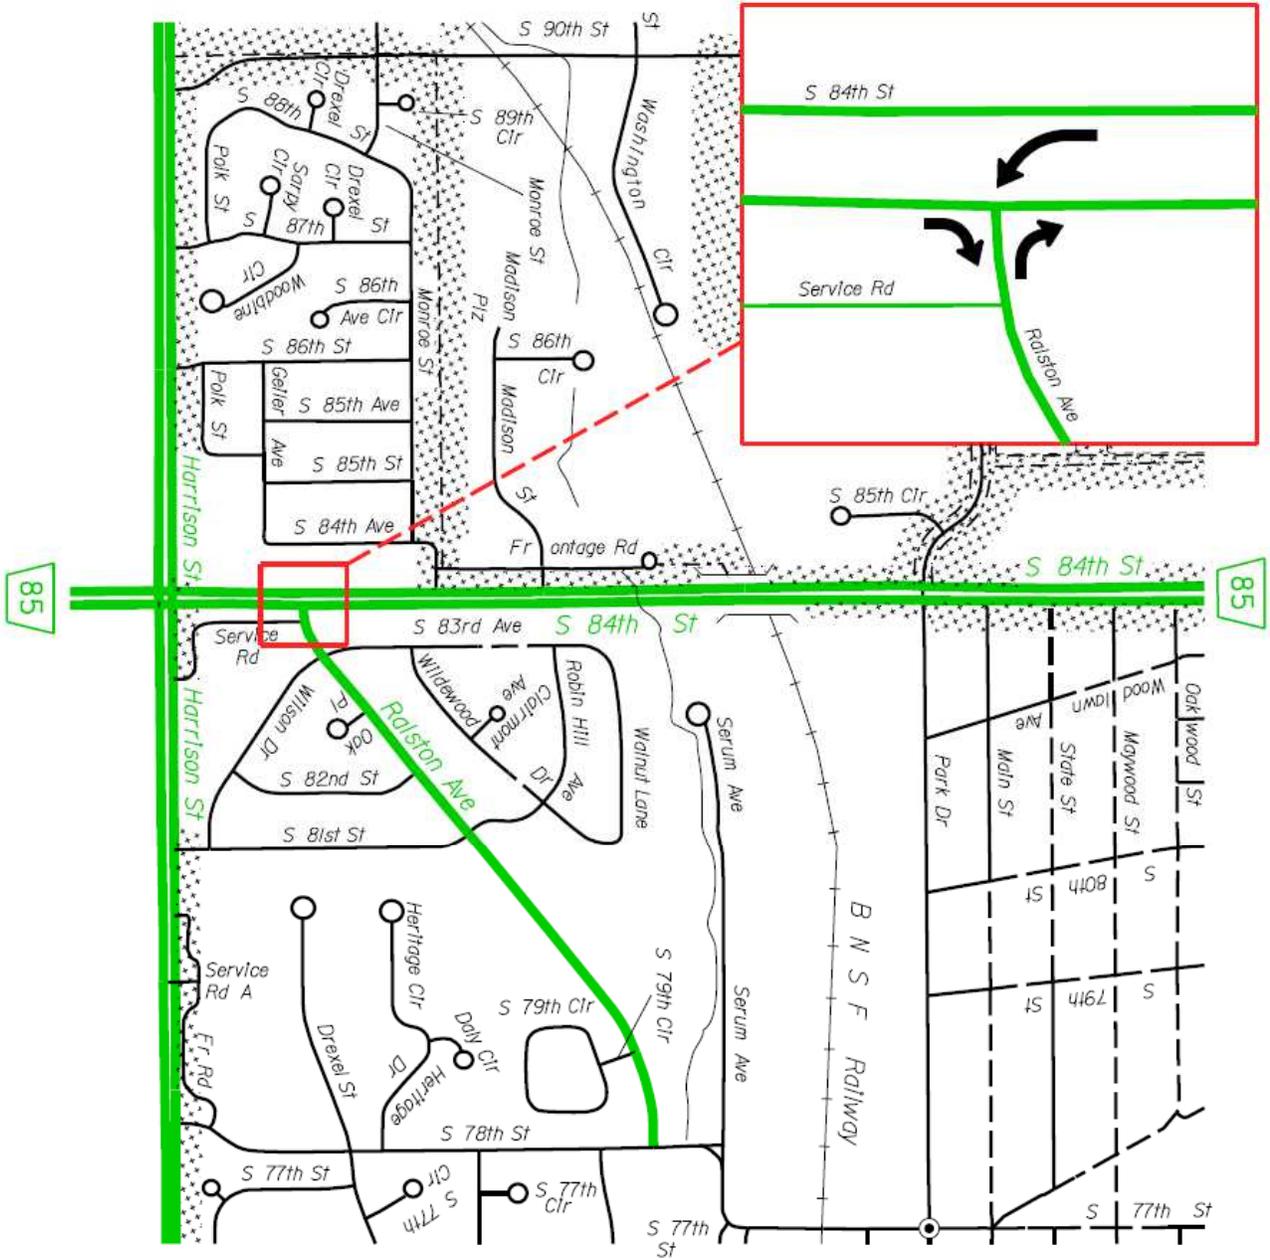

See attachment for intersection location.
