

Floodplain Study

The project is within the Platte River and Rawhide Creek floodplains. Impacts to the 100-year flood elevation in North Bend were evaluated for the various alternatives. The proposed expressway would not increase flood elevations in North Bend. The rest of the impacted area would meet State Floodplain Permit requirements.

After a comprehensive floodplain study, our flood models indicate that the existing flood maps need to be updated. Dodge County, the City of Fremont, and the Village of North Bend have sponsored the submittal of the State's Conditional Letter of Map Revision (CLOMR) to FEMA. This begins the process of a FEMA review of the State's floodplain study regarding this project.
